

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

Access to the Internet should remain low cost. Information should be available to all, not just the wealthy. Information must be produced and accessed by all who are interested, not just the wealthy and powerful.
